

Rocketrip reduces a company's travel costs by rewarding employees for saving on business trips. Rocketrip is excited to partner with Fox World Travel to drive great company cultures by recognizing and rewarding employees for extraordinary behavior.

The Problem

Managing T&E spend can be costly and painful. So many factors go into booking a trip, and market prices fluctuate constantly. How do employees know what's reasonable to spend, and how do employers know if the amount spent was appropriate? Strict policies create friction. "Be reasonable" policies can be expensive.

Nobody wins.

Our Solution

By providing employees with a real-time price to beat and motivating them to save, Rocketrip helps you get travel management under control and reduce travel spend by more than 5-15%+. We provide insight into what's reasonable to spend, and then motivate employees to spend less. You save money. Employees earn rewards.

Everyone wins.

How It Works

Rocketrip gives travelers custom budgets before every trip.

Employees book cost-effective options using Fox.

Employees are motivated to beat their budgets because they keep half the savings.

We track spend, savings, and how to optimize your company's results.
